

Donating Objects to the Museum

The collections at Beck Isle Museum have been accumulated through the generosity of our visitors and supporters donating their items into our care, since 1967.

As you will see when you visit our museum, those donations have added up to many thousands of items over the years. The museum's displays and stores are now full and we are going through a period of assessing the collection. This work has been funded by The National Lottery Heritage Fund.

While this is going on we are not accepting object donations at reception. If you have an item that you would like to offer to the museum please email manager@beckislemuseum.org.uk with information about the object(s) and if possible attach digital photographs of the item(s). We will then assess the item(s). If we decide it is something we would like for our collection we will let you know and arrange an appointment with the curator for you to bring it to the museum.

Thank you for your understanding, this will be the procedure until the current project ends in December 2025, when it will be reviewed.
